Though this event began locally in 1997 to address treatment and prevention education needs, it has grown to serve the greater Southeast and regularly receives national recognition. Typical workshops include "Re-inventing the Self: Positive Living after an HIV Diagnosis", "Giving Women Power over AIDS", and "Healthcare Disparities in the South." This first-class conference gathers luminaries from Project INFORM, the National Association for People with AIDS (NAPWA), the Florida Bureau of HIV/AIDS and Hepatitis, and even the White House, but at its heart, remains humble and true to an intimate learning experience for the consumer it serves.  Fees: Positive Living is one of the last few conferences with a consumer focus. Persons living with HIV/AIDS are expected to contribute $50 toward the cost of their attendance. The conference committee makes every effort to provide scholarships for the balance of costs associated with this event. All other participants are charged $125. See the OASIS website for an application and more information.
